Hello again Nursing students 😊

Your next library research assignment is here!! We have some great resources that can help you with the Health Fair.

These can be found on the Nursing LibGuide by clicking the library link in your Blackboard course. Ready?

Health and Wellness Resource Center is one of our favorite databases to recommend for the Health Fair. It has Health Assessment tools, fact sheets, and health articles aimed at the consumer, so it’s perfect for patient education. Plus, it also has scholarly journal articles. You have to check “refereed publications” to find those. “Refereed” is another word for “peer reviewed.”

You may remember the library catalog from our orientation session. (Its name is LINCC).

Tip: Choosing “omit articles” where it says “Limit to,” will give you books, e-books and media. Keep searches basic.

Books like Breast Cancer Sourcebook, published by Omnigraphics, are great for patient education. There is a whole series of Sourcebooks on different health topics. Other great books, e-books and films can supply facts and information too.

If you need a refresher, check out our tutorials page on YouTube: https://www.youtube.com/user/ValenciaWestLibrary/videos

If you’d like to sit down with someone who can walk you through it, please contact a librarian. 😊

Face-to-Face: We are available on the 2nd floor of Building 6. Walk in, no appointment needed.
